

Distance Learning at Waubonsee Community College

Distance Learning: Our Manufacturing Bridge program transitions into an online course. When the class starts, the Transition Advisor schedules these students to meet in a computer classroom so she can assist them with the initial log in process and navigating the online course shell (Blackboard). She highlights all of the features they will need to utilize during the course. The Transition Advisor has even made arrangements with the instructor to have access to the Blackboard portal as a teaching assistant so she can see whether or not her students are making sufficient progress throughout the session. She then schedules additional group meetings to continue to provide support to the students in the class.